

CMU, a leader

in off-campus education

Central Michigan University has a more than 100-year tradition in education. Founded as a teachers' college in 1892, CMU is Michigan's fourth largest university. It is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE) and by the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. CMU has offered off-campus degree programs to working adults for more than 35 years. Over 70,000 graduates have earned their degrees through CMU's Off-Campus Programs.

Leadership is a learned behavior

This unique online master's degree program has been specifically designed for a select group of dedicated educators, like you, to enhance your leadership skills and your education credentials.

Get an edge in the charter school field

This online program offers you the convenience of choosing the time and place for your studies combined with the quality of a Central Michigan University education. Course work will provide a strong base in educational leadership including classes in:

- Charter School Leadership
- Educational Technology for Administrators
- School and Community Relations
- Principles of Educational Administration
- Personnel Administration
- Program Review and Evaluation

The program is in a cohort format that enables students to build networks with other emerging charter school leaders as they complete a set sequence of courses together from start to finish.

CMU and charter schools

The concepts being taught in the Master of Arts degree in Educational Leadership with an emphasis in Charter School Leadership have been developed from CMU's long-standing history with charter schools. In 1994 Central Michigan University became the first university in the nation to authorize a charter public school. With 59 charter schools Central Michigan University is the nation's leading university authorizer of charter schools.

Adult-friendly student services

We know how busy you are. Central Michigan University has over 35 years experience in bringing quality programs to working adults.

- Online application and registration
- No GRE or GMAT
- Home delivery of textbooks and library materials
- Personal service from people who care

"I'm particularly pleased with the easy access of the online materials. I can work on my assignments whenever it fits into my schedule, whether it is six at night or three in the morning."

Gyl Kasewurm, CMU graduate

Currently, over one million students attend charter schools in forty-one states.
